Open House Extravaganza...

Baltimore, MD – October 29, 2009 – 3809 Edgewater Place was pulsing with activity today as Belfast Valley Contractors officially celebrated the opening of its new corporate headquarters. This grand occasion was a wonderful opportunity to get a first-hand look at this impressive new facility. There were many photographs on display which showcased some of Belfast Valley Contractors completed projects along with information focusing on specific concrete construction techniques. Guests included representatives from various general contractors, specialty subcontractors and suppliers along with many other business associates who have become their friends and colleagues over the years.

The message of today's event was clear, Belfast Valley Contractors is extremely proud of its new facility and committed to providing superior service with versatility, reliability, strength, and safety. Now in its 26th year and second generation in the commercial concrete industry, BVC is looking forward to new challenges and many more successful projects.

The president of Belfast Valley Contractors, Ted Goloboski, Jr. stated "This is such a thrilling moment for all of us here at BVC and it's great to be able to share this company milestone with so many people. We thank everyone who took time from their busy schedules to join us today. And for those who couldn't attend, contact us any time to schedule a personal tour".
